

Smarty and Twisty seem to have lost their words for saving electricity. Can you help them find them in this puzzle? (Hint: read the tips and find the red words in the word jumble.)

- When there's no one in a room, it should be lights out.
- Some electronic devices such as stereos, TVs and computers draw electricity even when they're turned off, so unplug them when they're not being used.
- Chargers for cell phones, PDAs and similar devices draw power even when not charging. They can be put on a power bar to be clicked off when not in use.

- If you're switching to doing something else, can you switch off what you're done with?
- Are you leaving the room? Please turn off the lights, TV, computer, stereo....

Now that you've helped Smarty and Twisty find the words for saving electricity, give their house some colour. And put a red circle around each thing in every room they should pay attention to for Earth Hour.
